

New Jersey Disaster Critical Incident Stress Response

New Jersey Disaster Critical Incident Stress Response (NJDCISR) is a program administered by the Office of Employee and Organization Development that addresses the needs of high-risk rescuers and first responders.

NJDCISR utilizes a customized Critical Incident Stress Response model that is comprehensive, statewide, and first responder oriented. This model draws upon peer support and first responder expertise to integrate lessons learned from experience with previous disasters and events, as well through interactive response and training. You can learn more about NJDCISR by visiting their website at www.njdcisr.org

T.A.P.E.R. ©

Trauma & Addiction Psychology for Emergency Responders

- Mental Health Services for Police, Fire, Emergency Medical Services, Construction Workers, Mental Health Professionals and Clergy
- Funded by American Red Cross 9/11 Mental Health and Substance Abuse Program
- Confidential Treatment
- Mental Health Providers are credentialed and trained in both fields of Trauma and Addictive Behaviors
- Services are fully paid up to 12 sessions of psychotherapy for eligible individuals and/or couples
- Quality Assurance and Program Evaluation included in this Project

Contact telephone number: 1-800-968-1242